From zero to credo

- 2016. No activity
- 2017. A moderate pick up in activity, but immense competition
- 2018. Vivid activity
- 2019. Substantial increase in activity

- Shearwater has won contracts amounting to ~40 vessel months post the Schlumberger transaction, utilizing 10 vessels in the 2019 summer market
- · Ongoing dialogues with clients give Shearwater strong confidence in being able to utilize between 6-9 vessels in the upcoming winter season
- · Ramping up/down activity by utilizing the flexible operational platform (i.e. costs taken down rapidly if needed)

Active fleet and backlog reflect market gaining traction

Equinor is the leader of the pack

Transforming the Norwegian continental shelf

Awarding contracts worth NOK 2.5 billion

Technology – a key part of future seismic development

- Most new fields will be developed through existing infrastructure
- Typically, much smaller prospects
- · New technology needed
- Recent technology collaboration agreement with Equinor
  - environmentally friendly data collection
  - better quality data faster than current technology

Shearwater is uniquely positioned in an improving market

- 1 Leading high-end fleet with a global reach and scale to serve all acquisition markets
- 2 Substantial streamer-pool sufficient to operate total fleet for multiple years
- 3 Wide range of proprietary technology, including in-house engineering and manufacturing
- Solid operational platform low and flexible cost base
- 5 Strong financial platform with buffer to weather through a challenging market
